Policies of the Department of Health Sciences and Kinesiology

E-mail Policy

The Department Health Sciences and Kinesiology often communicates with its students via e-mail about policies, program changes, events, educational opportunities, advisement and other important issues. Because of privacy concerns and regulations, all e-mails will be sent to your official Georgia Southern University e-mail address. It is imperative, and your responsibility, to check and maintain this account.

If you correspond with the Department of Health Sciences and Kinesiology or any of its faculty and staff using an e-mail account other than your assigned Georgia Southern account, the Department and its faculty are under no obligation to respond and accept no responsibility for information sent therein.

Behavioral Standards

In addition to the academic requirements for your degree program, there are core performance standards required for its completion. These standards are deemed necessary for success in academic programs and employment in the degree fields:

1. It is essential the student behave in a professional manner. The student must not, in any fashion, cause distraction to the department, faculty, fellow students or clients. Furthermore, the student must have the ability to: behave in an ethical manner; demonstrate good judgment, maturity (profanity in professional or academic settings will not be tolerated), sensitivity, and emotional stability; and establish effective harmonious relationships with faculty, fellow students and clients.

2. It is essential that the student have the sensitivity, interpersonal and professional skills sufficient to interact with individuals, families and groups. Students will be evaluated using tools such as classroom performance and experiential evaluations, utilized by faculty and site supervisors, on the basis of their ability to appropriately adapt their manner of interaction with clients from a variety of social, emotional, cultural and intellectual backgrounds.

3. It is essential that the student have communication abilities sufficient for interaction with others in verbal and written form. Students must be able to appropriately adjust presentation/communication styles to a level that is compatible with the communication abilities of the client(s).

Policy on Distractions

Distractions of any kind negatively affect the fellow students and the professor, impeding the learning process. Any distraction will be viewed a significant disruption of the class, and the student will be asked to leave the classroom immediately. Distractions may include:

- Students using the text or voice functions on a cell phone;
- A beeper, cell phone or any other noise-making device ringing or vibrating;
- Students leaving the classroom repeatedly, or leaving the classroom to make or answer a phone call or text message;
- Students having private conversations in the classroom;
- Students doing any other work than that which is related to the material being presented in class at that time; and
- Students behaving in a manner that substantially interferes with the ability of students and faculty to teach and learn.

Particular attention should be given to cell phones as they are especially distracting. The professor has the right to count the student as absent when the student violates the distraction policy.

Code of Student Integrity Policy

This policy applies to all students enrolled in a course taught by Department of Health Sciences and Kinesiology faculty.

Students who are found to have violated the Department of Health Sciences and Kinesiology’s Behavioral Standards, Policy on Distractions or GS’s Code of Student Integrity (by plagiarism, cheating, fabrication, or facilitation academic dishonesty, including coursework copyright infringement) will be immediately referred to the Office of Student Integrity for adjudication. It is the student’s responsibility to know and understand what constitutes cheating, plagiarism, fabrication, etc.
