Visiting Instructor of Radiography
Waters College of Health Professions / Department of Diagnostic and Therapeutic Sciences

The Department of Diagnostic and Therapeutic Sciences (DDTS) in the Waters College of Health Professions invites applications and nominations for the position of Visiting Instructor of Radiography. This position will be located on the Armstrong campus.

The Radiography program prepares undergraduate students to function as radiologic technologists registered or RT(R) in acute, emergent, critical patient care and surgery.

Position Description. This is a one-year, 10-month appointment, and the salary is competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience. Appointments are for one year only, although there is the possibility of reappointment should funding permit and based upon satisfactory performance. The second year would be the terminal year, without exceptions.

Required Qualifications:
- RT(R) with earned master’s degree in Radiologic Technology or related field.
- Certified by ARRT to practice as RT(R) with advanced credentials in CT, MRI or Mammo
- Able to teach fundamentals of radiologic science.
- Must be authorized to work in the United States for the duration of employment without assistance from the institution

Preferred Qualifications:
- Valid certification for online teaching

Screening of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. The preferred position starting date is August 1, 2019. A complete application consists of a letter addressing the qualifications cited above; a curriculum vitae; and the names, addresses, telephone numbers, and email addresses of at least three professional references. Finalists will be required to submit to a background investigation. Applications and nominations should be sent to:
